

Video now available: RPG for Therapy or Education - Seattle Children's Hospital WSTRA Con 16 Presentation

Printable View

rpgresearch

04-12-2015, 02:01 PM

Video now available: RPG for Therapy or Education - Seattle Children's Hospital WSTRA Con 16 Presentation

As per request, here is the raw unedited video of the presentation

"The Therapeutic and Educational Uses of Role-Playing Games (RPG) as Intervention Modalities for Individuals and Groups from the Therapeutic Recreation Perspective" at Seattle Children's Hospital for the Washington State Therapeutic Recreation Association (WSTRA) 16th annual conference. The live version of this presentation was certified for Continuing Education Units (CEU's) by the American Therapeutic Recreation Association (ATRA).

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ktMqL1s8jxI>

Comments and questions are very much welcomed.

Happy Gaming!

JasonKW

04-12-2015, 06:21 PM

Re: Video now available: RPG for Therapy or Education - Seattle Children's Hospital WSTRA Con 16 Presentation

I haven't had a chance to watch, but if I love it, are you averse to me sharing it on social media? Can't wait to watch!

rpgresearch

04-12-2015, 07:53 PM

Re: Video now available: RPG for Therapy or Education - Seattle Children's Hospital WSTRA Con 16 Presentation

Not averse at all, that would be great if you spread the word. Thanks!

rpgresearch

04-14-2015, 12:21 PM

Re: Video now available: RPG for Therapy or Education - Seattle Children's Hospital WSTRA Con 16 Presentation

I have started adding closed captions to the raw video that is currently up. I will let folks know when that is completed (the automated captions currently there are hilarious though!).

And I am working on an edited version of the video with fixed sound and other features, but that will probably take several days before ready.

rpgresearch

04-17-2015, 12:38 AM

Re: Video now available: RPG for Therapy or Education - Seattle Children's Hospital WSTRA Con 16

Presentation

Finished the enhanced version of the video.

This one has the audio fixed, and embedded the slideshow and the video clips.

Recommend viewing this version over the original raw unedited version.

Still working on the closed captioning.

URL to the enhanced version here:

<http://rpgresearch.com/blog/enhanced...y-presentation>

rpgresearch

04-17-2015, 12:33 PM

Re: Video now available: RPG for Therapy or Education - Seattle Children's Hospital WSTRA Con 16 Presentation

Well, I am surprised. I thought if anything was of value for discussion regarding RPG, this thread would have been excellent.

This is probably not worth the text since it is unlikely to be seen now, but just in case some people followed this thread before being moved, I just have to comment on the relegation of this thread from the "Tabletop Roleplaying Open" discussion board, since the presentation clearly discusses the topic of role-playing games in depth.

Why was this moved to the bit bucket that is the "Glamorous Unrestrained Hype Machine"?

Years ago RPG.net moderators would have understood and appreciated the value of discussion of the topics in the link to the video presentation posted.

But alas in recent years Rpg.net moderators unfortunately, once again, relegated this and plenty of other useful information, relevant, and pertinent to RPG-related quality information, that would be great for intelligent discussion, into the bit bucket.

I do not follow the politics or drama of various communities, including this one, but this is leading me to wonder what has happened over the years to lead to this degradation of the forums moderation at rpg.net?

A few years ago I gave up posting to RPG.net because of such issues.

I had hoped the situation would have improved by now, so I thought to see if the place had improved by posting this very appropriate and applicable topic for discussion.

It is most unfortunate that RPG.net is still clearly not in a state anymore for the in depth discussion of role-playing gaming topics of value.

Very disappointing. Years ago it was run much more reasonably.

If anyone actually finds this thread now hidden in effectively the trash, and you happen to view the video, please let me know if you really think this was, or was not, an appropriate posting for discussion of role-playing games, or if you agree with the moderators moving this?

Meanwhile, Happy Gaming!

All times are GMT -7. The time now is 01:18 PM.

Powered by vBulletin® Version 4.2.2

Copyright © 2015 vBulletin Solutions, Inc. All rights reserved.

© 1996-2015 RPGnet® and individual posters. Compilation copyright RPGnet.
Digital Point modules: Sphinx-based search